ORADELL, NJ, October 15, 2015 – The “Hudson City Hard Hats” came in to lend a hand by volunteering on two of Habitat for Humanity of Bergen County’s (Habitat Bergen) Sandy Restoration job sites in Hackensack.

The team of 10 dynamic women was split into two groups in two homes. One team installed dry wall and spackled, making the home ready for the next phase of re-construction. The other team worked all day framing and painting to ready the home for insulation and dry wall.

“We were all very pleased to do our small part to help the families get their damaged homes refurbished,” said Patricia Middleton, Hudson City Savings Bank Vice President, Investments. “This was personal for us as one member of our team had recently received support from a post Hurricane Sandy recovery team and it made us all feel good to give back.”

“The Hudson City Savings Bank volunteer team brought their ‘A’ game to the Superstorm Sandy critical home repair worksites which, was evidenced by their dedicated and enthusiastic work style, resulted in Habitat Bergen getting closer to final restoration of our families’ homes” said Jacey Raimondo, Habitat Bergen Executive Director.

About Habitat for Humanity of Bergen County

The goal of Habitat Bergen is to eliminate poverty housing and homelessness from the face of the earth by working in partnership with people in need. Using volunteer labor and donated funds and materials, Habitat Bergen builds or rehabilitates simple, decent houses and sells them to low-income families at cost, but with no interest added. Habitat Bergen is a people-to-people partnership, which joins all of us together regardless of race, nationality, religion, or socioeconomic status. That partnership begins with the homeowner families (partner families). Habitat Bergen is not a giveaway program, but a joint venture in which those who benefit from the housing ministry are involved in the work at various levels. They help with the construction of their own home, as well as the houses of their neighbors.
