ORADELL, NJ, November 18, 2015 – A team of seven employees from Sussex Bank traded in their day jobs to volunteer with Habitat for Humanity of Bergen County (Habitat Bergen) in Little Ferry and Hackensack, as part of the New Jersey Bankers Association’s (NJBankers) “Bankers Build” program.

The team split into two groups but all had the same goal in mind: to rebuild homes damaged by Superstorm Sandy. Volunteers installed dry wall, spackled and sheathed an exterior wall.

“Our Sussex Bank team had a great time helping rebuild Hackensack and Little Ferry. Knowing how extensive the damage was from Superstorm Sandy made our efforts all the more worthwhile,” said Anthony Labozzetta, President/CEO at Sussex Bank.

“New Jersey bankers have a strong commitment to the communities they serve and “Bankers Build” is just one more way to support their neighbors. With so much still to do, our members are rolling up their

“We were very excited to work with the NJBankers and Sussex Bank, two organizations that have similar goals and visions as Habitat Bergen does: doing good for the greater community,” said Nicole Murray, Habitat Bergen Director of Marketing.

About Habitat for Humanity of Bergen County

The goal of Habitat Bergen is to eliminate poverty housing and homelessness from the face of the earth by working in partnership with people in need. Using volunteer labor and donated funds and materials, Habitat Bergen builds or rehabilitates simple, decent houses and sells them to low-income families at cost, but with no interest added. Habitat Bergen is a people-to-people partnership, which joins all of us together regardless of race, nationality, religion, or socioeconomic status. That partnership begins with the homeowner families (partner families). Habitat Bergen is not a giveaway program, but a joint venture in which those who benefit from the housing ministry are involved in the work at various levels. They help with the construction of their own home, as well as the houses of their neighbors.
