A team of eight volunteers from Boiling Springs Savings Bank (BSSB) spent the day sanding, priming and painting with Habitat for Humanity of Bergen County (Habitat Bergen) in Little Ferry as part of the New Jersey Bankers Association (NJBankers)'s "Bankers Build" program.

Over the course of the summer, NJBankers and its members associated with 15 banks will volunteer on Habitat Bergen's job sites for 15 days. In addition to their hands-on support, members of the association have generously committed to donate $1,000 per team build to Habitat Bergen.

"It has been almost three years since Little Ferry was devastated by Superstorm Sandy. Many may have forgotten about the storm and its impact on towns in northern New Jersey, but we at Boiling Springs Savings Bank have not forgotten its effects on our neighbors. Our team has partnered with Habitat Bergen many times in the past and we are thrilled to be a part of the Bankers Build initiative. BSSB is committed to make a difference in the communities we serve and this is just one more way to lend our support," Andy Jones, Boiling Springs Savings Bank senior vice president.

"New Jersey bankers have a strong commitment to the communities they serve and 'Bankers Build' is just one more way to support their neighbors. With so much still to do, our members are rolling up their sleeves and volunteering their services to help rebuild after the damage incurred by Superstorm Sandy," said John E. McWeeney, Jr., NJBankers president and CEO. "In addition, members will make a contribution of $1,000 for each bank's team to help purchase construction materials."

"Helping is not a new concept to NJBankers. In fact, the NJ Bankers have been committed to helping other NJ Habitat affiliates rebuild following the devastation caused by Superstorm Sandy in 2012," said Jacey

Raimondo, Habitat Bergen executive director. "The manpower and financial resources of their members can help our affiliate reach more families in need of rebuilding. These partnerships become the cornerstone of an organization's success and ability to make an impact in a community, and we are grateful to have the opportunity to work with NJBankers, Boiling Springs Savings Bank and the additional banks that will volunteer on our worksite this summer."
